

Proud Moment for Gauhati University: From National Excellence to Global Recognition

Guwahati, October 9, 2025:

In a remarkable achievement, Gauhati University (GU) has secured the 9th position in the National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF) 2025, becoming one of the top ten universities in India. The rankings, released by the Ministry of Education, Government of India, recognize excellence in higher education across key parameters such as teaching and learning, research and professional practices, graduation outcomes, inclusivity, and perception.

This historic milestone marks the first time a university from Northeast India has entered the NIRF top ten, symbolizing a moment of immense pride for the region. Vice-Chancellor Prof. Nani Gopal Mahanta expressed his delight, stating,

“This recognition is a result of the hard work and dedication of our faculty, students, and staff. We aim to continue advancing in academic and research excellence.”

Building on this national success, Gauhati University is now setting its sights on global recognition. As the National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC) transitions from its traditional grading system to a new binary accreditation format with ten evaluation categories, GU is working diligently to maintain and surpass its current standing.

To strengthen its academic and institutional framework, the university has launched several student clubs and activity forums to foster personal development, self-confidence, and skill building—promoting holistic growth beyond academics. Further extending its global footprint, GU has officially registered for the Times Higher Education (THE) World University Rankings, where it proudly secured a position in the 1200–1500 bracket worldwide. Impressively, it stands as one of only two universities from Northeast India—alongside Tezpur University (TU)—to earn this distinction, with GU ranking higher between the two.

Students and alumni across Assam and the Northeast have celebrated these milestones as a testament to GU’s rising academic reputation. With its sights set on both national and international excellence, Gauhati University continues to embody the spirit of progress, innovation, and inclusive education.

Campaigns in Full Swing for Gauhati University Students’ Union Election 2025-26.

Guwahati, 2025: With the nomination process concluded on 17th September, the stage is now set for the Gauhati University Students’ Union Election 2025-26, scheduled to be held on October 13 and 14. A total of 45 candidates from 24 departments are now actively campaigning for various posts, marking the next phase of this highly anticipated student democratic exercise.

Nomination day was a vibrant display of student unity and enthusiasm. Hostel representatives and supporters accompanied candidates to the nomination venue, upholding Gauhati University’s long-standing tradition of spirited electoral participation. The campus resonated with drums, slogans, and colors, with each group proudly representing its hostel identity.

Students described the nomination day as a defining moment—the culmination of weeks of planning, discussions, and informal campaigning within hostels. For many, it was not just about submitting paperwork, but about expressing a shared identity and commitment to the university community.

Now, with the nomination phase behind them, candidates have entered full campaign mode. Posters, speeches, classroom interactions, and hostel visits dominate the atmosphere as contenders reach out to the student body to present their visions and promises. The excitement continues to build, and the university campus has transformed into a hub of democratic energy.

The strong turnout during nominations and the ongoing energetic campaigns reaffirm the importance of the student elections as a platform for representation, dialogue, and leadership. As polling day approaches, students across departments are closely watching the developments, ready to make their voices heard.

The upcoming election is yet another reflection of the vitality of student politics and the enduring democratic ethos that Gauhati University proudly upholds.

Tribute to Zubeen Garg at Gauhati University

Guwahati, 2025: Gauhati University came together in solemn remembrance of Assam’s beloved cultural icon Zubeen Garg, whose passing left the campus and the state in deep mourning. The university community observed a series of tributes and memorial events, reflecting the artist’s enduring influence on generations of students.

Immediately after the artist’s passing, the ongoing campaign activities for the Gauhati University Postgraduate Students’ Union Election (2025–26) were suspended, and the university authorities decided to postpone the election date.

On the evening of September 19, more than 500 candles were lit in front of the Birinchi Kumar Barua Auditorium as students and teachers paid homage to the legendary singer. With tearful eyes, the gathering reminisced as the song “Mayabini” echoed through the air. From the day of his death until the evening of September 23, the day of his cremation, students across departments and hostels lit candles to offer their final tribute to Zubeen Garg. From the night of September 20, students assembled near Satmile Gate, awaiting the passage of the artist’s mortal remains as it was brought from Singapore through the Lokpriya Gopinath Bordoloi International Airport to his Kahilipara residence. Many stayed awake through the night, singing Zubeen Garg’s timeless melodies in his memory.

In honour of the late artist, the Gauhati University Teachers’ Association announced several commemorative initiatives. The Performing Arts and Cultural Centre building will be renamed after Zubeen Garg, and a bust of the artist will be installed in front of it. A Zubeen Garg Song Competition will be introduced during the university’s Inter-College Youth Festival, and a special commemorative book on his life and works will be published.

Announcing these decisions to the media, Vice-Chancellor Prof. Nani Gopal Mahanta said, “On this day of grief, we have taken these four decisions to honour his legacy. We hope that, in some measure, we can preserve the towering legacy of Zubeen Garg.” Remembering the artist, Dr.

Debashish Saikia, Executive President of the Drama Society, Gauhati University, remarked, “Zubeen Garg was an entity in himself. His ideals and his love for nature are lessons the new generation must embrace. We should carry his songs and creative works forward as academic and research materials.”

Nuturing the timeless habit of reading in the modern age

The habit of reading has long been regarded as one of the most enriching practices in human life. It not only nurtures the mind but also refines thought, language, and imagination. In a world that is constantly changing, reading remains a timeless activity that broadens understanding and shapes character.

Books open windows to new ideas, cultures, and experiences. They help readers develop empathy, critical thinking, and creativity. Through reading, one learns to look beyond personal boundaries and engage with the wider world. For students in particular, reading plays a crucial role in improving concentration, vocabulary, and analytical skills; qualities that contribute to success both in academics and in life.

However, the habit of reading is not as common as it once was. The growing influence of technology, social media, and short-form entertainment has reduced the time people devote to books. Fast information and instant updates have replaced the quiet satisfaction that comes from reading and reflecting. This shift should remind us of the importance of keeping the reading habit alive.

Promoting reading must become a shared effort between schools, families, and communities. Educational institutions can encourage students through book clubs, reading competitions, and well-maintained libraries. Parents, too, can inspire children by setting an example at home; reading together, discussing books, and gifting them often. Public libraries should be revitalized and made more accessible, especially for young readers.

Reading is a lifelong companion - a source of comfort in solitude and strength in uncertainty. It feeds curiosity and cultivates wisdom. As we move further into the digital age, let us remember that technology can inform, but only reading can truly transform. Reviving and cherishing the habit of reading is, therefore, an investment in a more thoughtful and enlightened society.

Vote for merit, not personal loyalties in university elections

Through your column, I wish to highlight an issue often overlooked during university elections. Many students still cast their votes based on personal connections or group influence rather than the merit and sincerity of candidates. This weakens the real spirit of student democracy.

An election is not about supporting friends or familiar faces; it is about trusting those who genuinely wish to work for all. Each vote we cast reflects our values and the kind of democratic citizens we aspire to be.

Let us choose our leaders thoughtfully and not by group loyalties.

The Need for Better University Transport Facilities

Gauhati University, one of Assam's premier institutions, attracts students from across the city and beyond. However, the limited number of buses has made commuting difficult, especially for those living far from campus.

Hundreds of students rely on university buses daily, but the small fleet cannot meet demand. Those who arrive late often fail to board due to lack of space, affecting punctuality and attendance.

university is unreliable, and many students from distant areas face high travel costs. Increasing the number of university buses would ensure timely access to classes and libraries while promoting safety and affordability.

The university administration should address this issue by expanding the fleet and improving scheduling and coordination to make transport more efficient and student-friendly.

Need for More Benches in Gauhati University Campus

I wish to highlight the lack of benches across GU campus, which is causing significant inconvenience to students, faculty. The limited seating forces many to sit on the ground, stairs, or crowded areas, making it uncomfortable to study, relax, or even hold discussions. This issue is particularly challenging for elderly visitors and differently abled individuals who require proper seating

The absence of adequate benches also discourages outdoor learning and social interactions, which are vital for a holistic educational experience. Installing more benches in key areas like the library, academic blocks, and canteens, especially under shaded spots, would greatly improve accessibility and comfort for everyone.

I urge the university administration to address this issue promptly, ensuring the campus becomes more welcoming and inclusive for all.

Letters to the Editor...

Lack of Free Wi-Fi Access in Gauhati University Campus

Through the columns of your esteemed daily, I wish to draw the attention of the concerned authorities to the lack of free Wi-Fi facilities within the Gauhati University campus. In today's digital age, access to the internet has become a basic necessity for students. Research work, online classes, academic submissions, and communication with teachers all depend heavily on internet connectivity.

Unfortunately, students of Gauhati University are facing great inconvenience due to the absence of a reliable and free Wi-Fi network. As a result, they struggle to access online study materials and academic resources, which affects their learning experience and academic performance.

Providing free Wi-Fi is a necessity that would promote equality, encourage digital literacy, and strengthen the academic environment of the university. Many reputed institutions across India have already ensured this facility for their students.

I therefore request the university administration to take prompt action to provide free and secure Wi-Fi access across the campus. Such a step will not only support digital education but also promote a more inclusive and progressive learning environment.

Inadequate Hostel Facilities at Gauhati University

Through the columns of your esteemed daily, I would like to draw the attention of the concerned authorities towards the serious problem of inadequate hostel accommodation at Gauhati University.

Every year, students from different parts of Assam and the North Eastern region seek admission to Gauhati University. However, the number of hostel seats is limited compared to the growing student population. In result, many deserving students, from rural and economically weaker backgrounds, face extreme difficulties in finding safe and affordable accommodation.

Private hostels and rented rooms outside the campus charge exorbitant fees, which are beyond the means of many students. This situation not only creates financial burden but also affects their academic focus and security.

Hence expanding the existing hostel infrastructure or constructing new hostels is essential to ensure equal opportunity for all students to pursue higher education without unnecessary hardship.

Irregular Stoppage of Green Electric Buses Causing Traffic Chaos

I am writing to express my concern about the ongoing traffic situation in Guwahati city, particularly regarding the irregular stoppage of Green Electric Buses. Despite their intention to ease transportation and reduce pollution, these buses have become a source of frustration for commuters due to their frequent stops at undesignated areas.

This irregularity causes traffic congestion, disrupts the flow of traffic, and poses safety risks, especially during peak hours, affecting thousands of daily commuters. I urge the authorities to take immediate action to regulate bus stops and ensure adherence to designated routes and stops.

Highlighting this issue would greatly benefit citizens and prompt authorities to take necessary steps.

CANDIDATE'S BYTES

I'm Gunjan Deka, and I'm contesting for the post of President in the upcoming Postgraduate Students' Union (25-26) Gauhati University. My vision for this journey can be summed up in three simple yet powerful words: Accountability, Affordability, and Accessibility. By Accountability, I mean ensuring that the university administration remains answerable to students that every decision taken considers the student's perspective. Affordability means creating an environment where education and campus facilities remain inclusive and within reach for all. And Accessibility stands for making opportunities, resources, and spaces open and available to every student, without barriers.

As a candidate for President in the Gauhati University Postgraduate Students' Union Election (2025-26), I, Mrinmoy Madhurya Deka, would like to share my key priorities. If elected, I'll work to revive the unused GU Information Centre land at Ambari, urging authorities to develop it into a national-level multipurpose project that benefits both students and the academic community. I'll also push for air-conditioning in the central library to create a more comfortable study environment. Lastly, I'll propose setting up a dedicated bicycle stand on campus to make commuting easier and promote an eco-friendly culture among students.

As a candidate for President, I, Hrishikesh Bordoloi, aim to strengthen our university's placement system. Currently, only a few departments have active placement cells, leaving many students without proper career guidance.

If elected, I'll establish a centralized campus placement cell to ensure equal opportunities for all departments and collaborate with companies to bring internships, training, and recruitment drives to our campus.

I'll also address one of our biggest concerns, the delay in back exams and results. I'll ensure that re-exams are held within 45 days and results are declared on time, so no student's progress is stalled by the system. We deserve efficiency and I'll make it happen.

I, Sahil Ali, am contesting for the post of Vice President. I have noticed that students face numerous problems while using the Samarth portal and often lack proper support and guidance. To address this, I aim to establish a dedicated helpline number where students can reach out for assistance with any portal-related issues.

I will also ensure that their concerns are effectively communicated to the authorities for timely resolution. Also, to ensure the safety of women, I plan to introduce a 24/7 women's helpline number. I'm also committed to restoring the field and initiating the development of a proper scientific track to enhance its quality and usability.

I, Sidartha Sankor Hazarika, am contesting for the post of Vice-President with a commitment to improve student life and campus facilities. If elected, I will work to enhance hostel infrastructure, ensuring better living conditions, increased accommodation, and improved amenities for students. I will also address the shortage of buses by advocating for more vehicles and better service frequency to make commuting smoother and more reliable.

Above all, I aim to be a dedicated voice for students, regularly conveying their concerns and suggestions to the university authorities while ensuring transparency and accountability in every step.

I am Prabal Jyoti Sarma, contesting for the post of General Secretary. My vision is to make GU a more inclusive and student-friendly campus where every student feels supported and cared for. One of my primary goals is to ensure that hostel facilities are provided to all students, so that our university can truly become a fully residential campus. This will not only help students from distant places but also create a stronger sense of community and campus life.

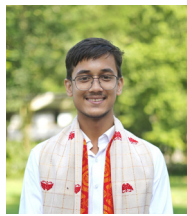

Furthermore, I strongly believe in promoting equal access to education. Hence, I will work towards the introduction of a fee waiver scheme for all integrated students, ensuring that financial constraints do not stand in the way of anyone's academic growth or participation.

I, Arnabjan Talukdar, am contesting for the post of General Secretary because I believe leadership is not about holding a position, it's about taking responsibility.

My vision for Gauhati University is built on the principles of unity, growth, and student empowerment. If elected, I will strive to bridge the gap between the students and the university administration, ensuring that every grievance is addressed with transparency, accountability, and urgency.

I will make sure that the voice of every student finds space in every official discussion and decision-making process. Together, we can create a more inclusive, responsive, and progressive student community.

I, Ankur Sharma, am contesting for the post of Assistant General Secretary in the Gauhati University Postgraduate Students' Union Election (2025-26). My key priority is to improve campus transportation. With nearly 8,000 students and only four buses, commuting has become difficult. I will work to increase the number of buses and introduce more E-rickshaw services to make travel easier, affordable, and eco-friendly. I also plan to expand the Fee Waiver Scheme to include Five-Year Integrated Master's Programme (FYIMP) students and simplify the application process. Additionally,

I will ensure fixed classrooms for FYIMP students to promote a more organized academic environment.

I, Sneha Malakar, am contesting for the post of Assistant General Secretary in the upcoming Gauhati University Postgraduate Students' Union election. If elected, my foremost priority will be to address the long-pending issues faced by students regarding the university portal. Many students often struggle with problems such as errors in admit cards, delays in examination results, and difficulties in obtaining migration certificates issues that directly affect their academic progress and peace of mind. My first task will be to work closely with the university administration to ensure these technical and administrative hurdles are resolved efficiently.

I believe that every student deserves a smooth and transparent digital experience, and I am determined to make that a reality.

I'm Barby Gogoi, contesting for the post of Assistant General Secretary (AGS) in the upcoming Gauhati University Students' Union Election. I believe the welfare and progress of students should always come first. If elected, I will work to improve transport facilities by increasing buses and introducing GPS tracking for safety, and upgrade the university hospital with better medical services, blood tests, and regular health checkups.

I'll also work to active the placement cell to create more career opportunities. Ensuring safety in girls' hostels through female security guards, and promote smart classrooms with modern learning tools are also my goals. My goal is to make our university safer, smarter, and more student-focused.

CANDIDATE'S BYTES

I'm Bedang Pathak, and I'm contesting for the post of Assistant General Secretary in the Gauhati University Postgraduate Students' Union Election (2025-26).

If I'm elected, my first priority will be to address and resolve the long-standing issues and discrepancies related to mark sheets, which have caused inconvenience to many students. Also I will be improving hostel facilities and ensuring that the problems faced by boarders are taken seriously and resolved promptly. I intend to work in constant coordination with the university authorities to make sure these issues are handled efficiently. My goal is to make Gauhati University a place where students can focus on their growth without unnecessary administrative or accommodation hurdles.

I'm Dhritishmita Deka, contesting for the post of Assistant General Secretary (Undergraduate) in the upcoming Gauhati University Postgraduate Students' Union (PGSU) Election 2025-26.

I sincerely thank all our postgraduate seniors whose efforts have made it possible for undergraduate students to take part in this election.

If elected, I will work to ensure that all computers in the library's internet section remain functional and accessible, and that undergraduate students have fixed classrooms to avoid inconvenience. I will also strive to ensure the timely declaration of results so that no student misses important scholarship opportunities.

I'm Yadrishee Sar-mah, contesting for the post of Assistant General Secretary (Undergraduate) in the upcoming election.

If elected, I plan to organize monthly workshops on public speaking, interview preparation, and competitive exam readiness, while also working to activate the Placement Cell for better career opportunities.

I will also strive to resolve the Fee Waiver issue for students of the Five-Year Integrated Postgraduate Programme and advocate for the construction of new hostels to accommodate the growing student community.

HOPES OF STUDENTS

Jagriti Saikia, a student from the English Department, raised significant concerns about the lack of basic facilities in the university, particularly for female students. She highlighted the poor condition of the girls' common room and the dilapidated state of the girls' washrooms, which are both unhygienic and uncomfortable. These issues, Agriti believes, not only affect the quality of life for female students but also raise safety concerns.

Additionally, she pointed out the lack of adequate transportation facilities on campus, which causes inconvenience, especially for students with tight schedules or those who commute from far areas. Agriti hopes the next Students Union Body will prioritize these issues, ensuring improvements in infrastructure and transportation, creating a safer, more comfortable environment for everyone, par-Priyam Bora, a third-semester Philosophy student, stressed the need for better sports facilities on campus. She pointed out the deteriorating boxing ring and poorly maintained sports fields. Priyam also called for an upgrade to the gym equipment, as the current facilities are outdated. She believes improving these facilities is vital for student well-being and fostering a more active campus community.

Ankita Das raised concerns about the lack of essential amenities on campus. She highlighted the absence of sanitary pad vending machines, which she feels are crucial for female students' hygiene. She also called for air conditioning in classrooms, as many lecture halls become uncomfortably hot. Additionally, Ankita emphasized the need to upgrade the girls' common room for better functionality.

Launch of Mukhya Mantri Nijut Moina Aasoni 2.0 at Gauhati University

Guwahati, August 6: Gauhati University witnessed a landmark occasion with the launch of the Mukhya Mantri Nijut Moina Aasoni 2.0 programme at the BKB Auditorium. The state initiative, introduced by the Government of Assam, is aimed at empowering young women by providing financial and institutional support to pursue higher education. The scheme is expected to benefit more than 10 lakh girls across Assam, enabling them to continue their studies while addressing the pressing issue of child marriage. By expanding educational opportunities, the programme represents a crucial step towards gender equality and youth empowerment in the state.

The launch ceremony was graced by Dr. Himanta Biswa Sarma, Hon'ble Chief Minister of Assam, as Chief Guest, and Dr. Ranaj Pegu, Hon'ble

Minister of Education, Government of Assam. Prof. Nani Gopal Mahanta, Vice-Chancellor of Gauhati University, delivered the welcome address, highlighting the transformative potential of the scheme for Assam's future.

As part of the event, application forms were formally distributed to students, symbolising the commencement of the scheme. In his address, the Chief Minister reaffirmed the government's commitment to eradicating child marriage and stressed that education remains the most powerful tool for social change.

The event concluded on a note of hope and inspiration, with a collective call to young women to embrace education as the foundation of empowerment, progress, and social reform.

GU students create giant portrait and choir performance on 100th birth anniversary

Guwahati, Sept. 9: In a remarkable display of creativity and devotion, Gauhati University paid a grand tribute to legendary singer, lyricist, and cultural icon Dr. Bhupen Hazarika on his 100th birth anniversary.

The Post Graduate Students' Union (PGSU) organized a special programme titled "Bindute Sindhu" on Tuesday, which witnessed the unveiling of a colossal 52-foot by 40-foot portrait of the maestro. The stunning artwork was brought to life in just a single day by artists Nirjuraj Das, Sankar Sarma, and Chayanav Kashyap.

The concept behind the tribute was envisioned by PGSU Assistant General Secretary, Naimisha Saikia, who described the effort as the true spirit of their chosen theme. "Bindute Sindhu means an ocean in a drop. Today, our artists poured an ocean of love and effort into a single drop of time," she said. The day concluded with an emotional ceremony at the Bhupen Hazarika Samadhi Kshetra, where a 100-member university choir delivered a powerful rendition of the university anthem "Jilikabo Luitore Paar." Their unified voices filled the atmosphere with reverence, marking a fitting conclusion to a day dedicated to the memory of Assam's beloved "Bard of the Brahmaputra."
